FACTS FOR THE CURIOUS.

The dolphin follows a ship in which man is performed.

Barnard says that the horse is delighted with the note of a trumpet.

LEONARDO could draw a perfect circle without a compass, and break a silver platter between his thumb and forefinger.

WHEN the young tigers have left their parents they are far more destructive than grown-up tigers, often killing three or four cows at a time, while the adult rarely kills more than one.

PROF. BAUSCHINGER has lately tested some iron taken from a chain bridge built in 1829, and found that, after fifty years of service, its strength and elasticity had not altered perceptibly from what they were reported to be at the time when they were put into service. The fact that age has little effect on the quality of iron has been verified by the metal tests made by Prof. Thurston of pieces of wire cable of the historic Fairmount suspension bridge at Philadelphia, lately taken down after forty years of service. The tested pieces were found to have a tenacity, elasticity and ductility fully equal to the best wire of the same size found in the market to-day.

The neighing of the horse, and the sounds made by other animals are to be accounted for by their being pleasurable to the ears of the particular animal's companions. It is supposed that in many sounds, as the crowing of a cock, the individual that utters the music enjoys the result of its own performance.

"TWO ANTS," says Buechner, "when they are talking together, stand with their heads opposite each other, working their sensitive feelers in the liveliest manner, and tapping each other's heads."

Numerous examples prove that they are able in this way to make mutual communications, and even on certain definite subjects.

"I have often," says the English naturalist Jesse, "placed a small green caterpillar in the neighborhood of an ant's nest, and the caterpillar has quickly an ant, which calls in the assistance of a friend after effectually dragging the caterpillar into the nest. It can be immediately seen that the little creatures hold a conversation by means of their feelers, and this being ended, they repair together to the caterpillar in order to drag it into the nest by their united strength. Further, I have observed the meeting of ants on the way to and from their nest. They stop, touch each other with their feelers, and appear to hold a conversation, which I have good reason to suppose relates to the best ground for obtaining food."

Hague writes, in a letter to Darwin, that he one day killed with his finger a number of ants who came every day from a hole in the chimney piece. He had tried to catch the chimney ants, but they were too quick for him, and the consequence of the slaughter was that the ants who were on the way turned back and tried to persuade their companions, who were not aware of the danger, to turn back also. A short conversation ensued between the ants, which, however, did not result in an immediate return, for those who had just left the nest first convinced themselves of the truth of the report.

Independence in politics is a good thing—that is, it is good in theory and beautiful to dilate upon before an audience or through the newspapers—but as advocated by the "reformers" of to-day, and as practiced by the visionary gentlemen who occasionally break into office it is impractical in the extreme and subversive of every object which is sought to be attained through the medium of political organization. Parties are aggregations of men banded together by similarity of ideas and working for the accomplishment of a common purpose. To become effective they must of necessity act in unison, just as an army does, for the same rules which apply to military operations control political movements. However large an army might be, and however well it were equipped and supplied, it would never score a victory if each individual soldier were to go into battle "on his own hook," so to speak. It is the solid masses of troops hurled in a body upon the enemy that break his lines and put him to flight.

The Republican party, while made up of the most intelligent elements of our population, and comprising in a remarkable degree the thinking and reading portion of the people, has always recognized the principle that unity of action is a prime necessity when political victories are to be won; therefore, differences of opinion on questions of minor importance have generally been subordinated to the main purpose of consolidating upon the general issue—the desire of triumph over the Bourbon enemy. Side issues have frequently been sprung for the purpose of distracting and dividing the rank and file, and sometimes they have served for a brief period to demoralize the voting strength of the party to such a degree as to enable the tattered remains of Democracy to claim a temporary triumph, but only for a little while. Returning reason has always come with time for reflection, and the solid ranks of Republicans would again go forth conquering and to conquer. Just now the country is being treated to another general exhibition on the "independent" stage, where certain small statesmen are posing as political purists, and insisting upon putting the Democracy to flight single-handed and alone. It is of no avail to point out to them the corseps of their many heroic but misguided predecessors, who went down to their political graves in contests of this character. It signifies naught, in their estimation, that the precedents are all against them: they much resemble the crack-brained enthusiasts who spend their lives in fruitless endeavors to invent perpetual motion.

In the Illinois legislature there are a few of these "independent" Republicans, who proclaim their intention to oppose the passage of the apportionment bills, and thereby give the enemy an advantage merely to gratify their own whims. It goes without saying that these "independent" kickers will meet with most summary and condign punishment when the people get a chance to express their views, next November. The apportionments are eminently fair and just, and the people who pay the taxes will not tamely submit to a prolongation of the session produced by the captions opposition of a few malcontents, when every day that is wasted costs nearly two thousand dollars. Not only the Republican party, but the people of the state generally, without regard to party, are sure to suffer loss through the lack of discipline which has been shown among the majority of the legislature.

In the house of representatives at Washington yesterday the Republicans, through a division in their ranks, allowed the Democrats to achieve a victory, whereby a rebel brigadier is permitted for a little longer to occupy a seat to which he was not elected. On a vote to take up the Lynch-Claiborne case, fifteen Republicans who desired to take up the tariff bill voted with the Democrats in the negative, and thus defeated its consideration. There is a sort of poetic justice, however, in the fact that the tariff bill was laid aside by a similar vote, and the house went into a useless discussion upon a question that had nothing in it but campaign thunder. Better discipline upon the part of the Republicans, and less desire to "go it alone" on the part of the independent statesmen, would have resulted in undoing a wrong which the party in power stands solemnly pledged to rectify.

"Independence" is very good on dress parade, but it never won a contest when there was fighting to be done. There's still hope.

SPRINGFIELD MAYORALTY.

Judge Zane Decides that Dr. Jayne was Legally Elected Mayor.

At the recent charter election held at Springfield, which on account of the multitude that resulted attracted no little attention in this community, the general incorporation law, under which Decatur is organized, was adopted. On the same day (April 4th, not the 18th,) the vote was taken for the new city officers. On account of the adoption of the general law the incumbents then in office claimed that they were entitled to hold until their successors were elected and qualified under the general law. The case was taken into the circuit court, and on yesterday Judge Zane decided that the candidates receiving the highest number of votes at the late election are entitled to be declared elected, and to hold the office until the next regular election, in 1883. This decision gives the office of Mayor to Dr. Jayne, the Republican candidate. The State Journal says:

Judge Zane, in a decision which we believe to be practically unassailable, declares that the terms of the city officers, now claiming the right to "hold over" in consequence of the adoption of the General Incorporation Act, "ended with the election of their successors on the last Tuesday in April, and their qualifications." The terms of the officers "are extended until the next election under the General Law." Dr. Jayne having been elected and qualified, is by virtue of this decision, Mayor of the City of Springfield. It is just to be assumed, therefore, that the City Council and all others who have the welfare of the city at heart, will recognize this fact. To do otherwise will be to involve its finances in almost inextricable confusion and imperil its welfare and prosperity. The Council—or rather the fraction of it which has heretofore assumed to act for the whole—have, so far, followed the advice of the ex-Mayor and attorneys. It is high time that they should proceed to act for themselves, and with a view to the city's interests, and we shall be greatly mistaken if they do not do this.

We are not prepared to state in what light Mr. James C. Lake views this decision as affecting his claims for mayor of Decatur. He will probably enlighten our people in a few days. Dr. Jayne was elected mayor of Springfield under the provisions of the old or special charter, which Decatur cast aside on April 19th, 1881, at a special election held on that day. On the 18th of the present month our city election was held under the general law, and in accordance with the notice issued by the clerk, ten aldermen were elected. However, a number of voters held that a mayor should be elected on that day and Mr. Lake received 113 votes, that were reported but not canvassed by the council at its recent meeting. It is the special purpose of Mr. Lake to test a question of law bearing on the case, and he will doubtless take steps in a short time to get the matter before the courts by causing a writ of mandamus to be issued.

As we look at it, there is no similarity between the Decatur and Springfield contests.

The new house that Samuel J. Tilden is building on the site of his former home at No. 15 Gramercy Park, New York, will be one of the costliest private houses in the city, estimates of the cost ranging from $400,000 to $600,000. The materials used consist of Carlisle (Scotland) reddish sandstone, Belleville brown stone and narrow bands of Maine granite, with a running vine wrought into relief by polishing, the effect of the black leaves upon the bluish gray of the natural granite being exceedingly good. The whole front of the house is one mass of elaborate carvings.

CLOCKS

SILVERWARE

CHEAP FOR A FEW DAYS.

We are about to REFIT OUR ENTIRE STORE. New Wall Cases will be put in on both sides, in order to give us a great deal more show case room than we now have.

Our new Cases will be ready April 15th; our old ones are sold and part of them shipped. We have either to sell off all CLOCKS and SILVERWARE, or else pile them up in the back room for three weeks.

We therefore will offer a discount of 10 per cent from the price of ALL CLOCKS, CASTERS, ICE PITCHERS, CAKE BASKETS, TEA SETS and all kinds of SILVERWARE bought of us between now and April 15th, 1882.

This 10 per cent discount will be given off from prices already lower than can be found in Decatur. If you think of getting a Clock, or any article of Silverware soon, it will pay you to buy now.

When our store is completed, we will be better able to display lots of goods we have been obliged to keep in drawers and the safe, and intend to enlarge our already large variety of goods.

Yours Respectfully,

A $325 STEAL.

Two Cases of Goods, the Property of F. L. Hays & Co., Stolen at Springfield.

On Friday last two negroes named Mendel and Bittinger, were before Justice Schroyer, at Springfield, charged with the penitentiary offense of receiving and concealing two cases of goods that had been stolen from a Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific freight car at Springfield on the night of the second or third of April. The accused waived the examination and were bound over on the May term of court in $1,000 each, both prisoners furnishing the required bonds. The goods stolen prove to be the property of F. L. Hays & Co., of this city, and were purchased in New York recently by Major Hays. They are valued at $325, and consisted of a lot of shirts, rubber goods, 20 pieces of barge, crepe, one case of quilts and other articles. The goods were expected to arrive here on April 1st, per agreement, but did not come direct, as these two cases went on to Springfield in a through car billied to that city, the intention being to send the Decatur goods eastward on the first local train. The two cases were re-billed at Springfield, but when the officials there went to look for the goods it was discovered that the car in which they had been left had been broken open and both cases spirited away. The theft was made known to the city and county officers, who proceeded to work up the case. In due time it was learned that certain parties had expressed a lot of goods to Carbondale, Ill., and also to Lyons, Iowa. Part of the goods were placed in a trunk, and the balance in a new case. Further investigation disclosed the fact that these goods, which were procured and returned to Springfield, were those stolen from the Wabash car, and also, that they had been hidden for nearly three weeks in Mendel and Bittinger's stables.
